

New Practices in FLEXIBLE LEARNING

The New Practices in Flexible Learning Project is part of the national training system's e-learning strategy, the Australian Flexible Learning Framework. The aim of the New Practices in Flexible Learning Project is to explore and increase the uptake of innovative, practical and sustainable approaches to e-learning in workplaces, communities and training organisations. It also aims to reset the benchmarks for vocational education and training e-learning practices.

New Practices in Flexible Learning has produced a range of projects with exciting outcomes and we want to share these with you.

Do you need support in implementing innovative e-learning within your workplace?

Why not learn through our experience...

Take up one of our professional development workshops, either face-to-face or online.

Topics include:

- m-learning in the workplace
- integrating voice technology into training
- exploring virtual environments for learning
- creating and implementing e-learning resources
- using online simulations
- assessment using mobile devices.

Note these are fee-for-service professional development sessions. Workshop dates and times are negotiable.

For further information contact the Australian Flexible Learning Framework's New Practices in Flexible Learning project team:

Ros Howell
New Practices in Flexible Learning Project Manager
Phone (08) 9319 5516 or 0409 942 737

Stuart Knox
New Practices in Flexible Learning Project Officer
Phone (08) 9319 5503

Email: newpractices2007@westone.wa.gov.au

or go to the New Practices website
<http://www.flexiblelearning.net.au/newpractices>